Sarah Morgan is in her twenty-fifth year of being a National Examiner. Currently living in a small fishing village in Virginia, she does A, H/A, and B tests, and spends much of her spare time prepping candidates for National Testings. She also tests at the C3 level and does club testings and Standards and Ratings Clinics when time permits. She is a graduate "A" from the Virginia Region where she showed extensively, Evented, and foxhunted on an occasional basis. After graduating from the University of Virginia, she spent time in Europe showing and training dressage and event horses. For many years, she owned and managed a large boarding and training operation in North Carolina. She has been an avid foxhunter and has acted as whipper-in for Yadkin Valley Hounds in North Carolina. Currently, she works with young horses, and enjoys riding and training in the open.

Although her "day job" is as an art teacher, she rides regularly and keeps up with the latest training techniques and advancements in horse care and disease prevention. As a part of her prep system, she includes strategies for studying the material and ways for candidates to show their abilities and knowledge to their best advantage. She also believes that Pony Club is unmatched in its educational opportunities and strongly supports the testing program.
